Explanations of the Astronomical Department.

By due attention to the following explanations, all the Astronomical Calculations in this work will be readily understood.

Time is regarded either as mean or apparent.

A mean day is the average length of the days in the year, and consists of 24 hours, as measured by a clock which runs uniformly, and which measures 365 times 24 hours in 365 natural days.

An apparent day is the time from the sun's leaving the meridian on one day, till its arrival on the meridian on the next day; and this time is not always the same, being sometimes more and sometimes less than 24 hours.

Mean time, then, is that shown by a well regulated clock; and apparent time is that shown by a correct sun-dial. The difference between these is called the equation of time.

The equation of time depends upon two causes, the obliquity of the ecliptic to the equator, and the eccentricity of the earth's orbit; both of which tend to produce an inequality in the daily increments of the sun's right ascension, while the earth's motion on its axis is perfectly uniform. Mean and apparent time coincide only four times in the year, viz: April 15th, June 15th, August 31st, and December 24th; and the greatest difference between mean and apparent time is on the 2d of Nov., and amounts to a little more than 14 1-4 minutes.

With the exception of the sun's declination and semi-diameter, and the equation of time, which are for the instant of apparent noon at Montpelier, all the calculations are adapted to mean time.

At the head of the right hand page for each month stands first a table of the declination and southing of the principal planets, on the 1st, 7th, 13th, 19th, and 25th days, and below it phases of the moon. By means of the first of these tables, the several planets may be readily found and recognized.

It was formerly customary to give the rising and setting of the sun according to apparent time, and to give the equation of time in another column. In that case it was necessary, in regulating a timepiece by the rising or setting of the sun, to apply the equation to the time of rising, or setting, (as the case might be,) given in the Almanac, and also three or four minutes, according to the sun's declination, on account of atmospheric refraction at the horizon. But as this matter was little understood, and attended with some trouble, these corrections were generally neglected. To remedy this inconvenience, it has been thought best to apply both these corrections, found to the nearest minute, to the sun's rising and setting, and to give only the result, which has been done in this Register since 1837. The method of doing this may be made plain by an example. Take, for this purpose, the 22d of September. On that day, according to the old method, the sun would rise at 6 o'clock, and set at 6. On that day the equation of time is 7 minutes; or, in other words, the sun is 7 minutes faster than the clock. The time, then, by the clock, when it is 6 by the sun, is 5h 53m in the morning, and 5h 53m in the evening. Now, on account of the refraction of the earth's atmosphere, the sun appears in the horizon in the morning 4 minutes before he arrives there; and in order to have the time when the sun is seen in the horizon as his time of rising, we subtract 4m from 5h 53m, leaving 5h 49m; and for the same reason we add 4m to 5h 53m, which gives 5h 57m for the time of his setting on the 22d of September; and these are the times given in this Register.

The column marked sun south is formed by applying the equation of time to apparent noon, and contains the times shown by a correct time-piece when the sun is on the meridian; or, in other words, when it is noon by a correct noon-mark or dial. For example—when it is noon by the sun on the 1st day of January, it should be 4 minutes after 12 o'clock by the time-piece. Again—when it is noon by the sun on the 1st day of November, it should be only 44 minutes after 11 o'clock by the time-piece. This column is introduced for convenience in setting time-pieces by a noon-mark.

The columns marked sun's declination, sun's semi-diameter, and equation of time, are calculated, to the nearest second, for apparent noon, and will be understood, without further explanation, by those who may have occasion to use them.

On page 4 will be found a list of such occultations of planets and stars by the moon as may be suitable for observation for determining longitude, and may be visible in Vermont. And this is succeeded by a catalogue of the eclipses of Jupiter's Satellites, which may be visible in Vermont, and which may be employed for the same purpose.

Eclipses of the Sun and Moon.

In the year 1844 there will be three Eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon.

I. A Total Eclipse of the Moon, May 31st, invisible in Vermont: ☽ at 5h 57m in the evening. This Eclipse will be visible throughout the Eastern hemisphere.

II. A Partial Eclipse of the Sun, June 15th, invisible in Vermont: ☉ at 7h 36m in the evening. This Eclipse will be visible in the South Pacific and Great Southern Oceans.

III. A Partial Eclipse of the Sun, November 10th, invisible in Vermont: ☉ at 4h 46m in the morning. This Eclipse will be visible only in a small portion of the Great Southern Ocean.

IV. A Total Eclipse of the Moon, November 24th, visible in Vermont as follows:

Beginning of the Eclipse, 5h 0m
Beginning of the Total Eclipse, 6h 8m
Middle of the Eclipse, 6h 55m
End of the Total Eclipse, 7h 41m
End of the Eclipse, 8h 49m

} Mean Time Evening at Montpelier.

Duration of the Total Eclipse 1h 33m. Duration of the Eclipse 3h 49m. Magnitude (Moon's diameter=1) 1.44 on the Southern Limb.

V. A Partial Eclipse of the Sun, December 9th, invisible in Vermont: ☉ at 3h 23m in the evening. This Eclipse will be visible to all the Northwestern part of North America and as far East as the State of Ohio and Upper Canada.

Orchards.—Would you leave an inheritance to your children?—plant an Orchard. Would you make home pleasant—the abode of the social virtues?—plant an Orchard. Would you remove from your children the strongest temptation to steal?—plant an Orchard. Would you cultivate a constant feeling of thankfulness towards the great Giver of all good?—plant an Orchard. Would you have your children love their home?—plant an Orchard. In short, if you wish to avail yourself of the blessings of a bountiful Providence, which are within your reach, you must plant an Orchard. And when you do it, see that you plant good fruit. Don't plant crab apple trees, nor wild plums, nor Indian peaches. The best are the cheapest.

I saw a child whose youthful cheek
Glow'd with health's golden bloom,
And light did from his young eyes break,
And his sweet face illume:

Farmers' Calendar.

THANKS that we are permitted once again to address our friends and patrons;—thanks to those thousands, whose liberality has long encouraged and sustained us, in labors which we trust have not been entirely valueless. We have now reached another mile-stone in the journey of life. It marks a year fled, with all its cares and its burden of responsibilities, and claims from each a retrospective view of his own course;—it marks a year begun, and admonishes each to gather wisdom from the past to guide him through the future. "The wisdom of the prudent is TO UNDERSTAND HIS WAY." What have you done, and how—right or wrong? Where have you succeeded and where failed? What have been your errors or miscalculations? All these inquiries may be made with reference to the past year and the past life; and a thorough and honest inquiry into these particulars—both as to your business and your relations with God and man—will prepare you for a more happy and successful course in all coming time. "Experience is the best school-master."

A Lesson for Pride.—Alexander the Great seeing Diogenes looking attentively at a large collection of human bones piled one above another, asked the philosopher what he was looking for. "I am searching," said Diogenes, "for the bones of your father, but I cannot distinguish them from those of his slaves."

It is a great privilege of poverty to be healthy without physic, secure without a guard, and to obtain from the bounty of nature what the wealthy are compelled to procure by the help of art.

Philosophy of Law.—Law is like fire; and those who meddle with it may chance to burn their fingers. Law is like a pocket with a hole in it; and those who risk their money therein are very likely to lose it. Law is like a lancet; dangerous in the hands of the ignorant, and doubtful in the hands of an adept. Law is like a sieve; you may see through it, but you will have to be considerably reduced before you can get through it.

To take Grease out of Silk.—Apply a little powdered magnesia on the wrong side, as soon as the spot is discovered.

For Grafting Wax.—Take 5 oz. pitch, 4 oz. resin, 2 oz. beeswax, and 1 oz. lard, and melt them well together.

A pleasant, cheerful wife, is as a rainbow set in the sky, when her husband's mind is tossed with storms and tempests; but a scowling and fretful wife in the hour of trouble is like one of those fiends who delight to torture lost spirits.

What a Farmer should be.—A farmer should be well instructed in chemistry generally, more particularly applied to agriculture; he should be well versed in mineralogy, geology, botany, and in the physiology of seeds, plants and trees, and animals, including the species of biana; he should learn geometry, mensuration, &c.; he should study political economy so far as to have a clear conception of the source of wealth and prosperity. In our republican government he should be taught to vindicate them by a condensed elocution. It will be a happy event for our country when our farmers, so educated, shall have the ascendency in our halls of legislation, and thereby put a stop to the fallacious special pleadings of demagogues, who have already reduced our country, possessing all the means of prosperity in a pre-eminent degree, to a most pitiable condition, by their miserable legislation.

Hints to Young Farmers.

On the first of January reckon with yourself, and reckon honestly—bring into view all debts and credits—notes and accounts. Ascertain to what amount your expenses were the last year, and the loss and gain—make out a fair statement and enter the whole in a book for the purpose.

The song he sang was "Dance! prepare
To tread a measure light!"
And his hand held a mirror, where
The sun was imaged bright:

Farmers' Calendar.

Blessings upon Winter! What! on its biting frost and driving snow? Yea, verily: even the frost has a most important agency in mellowing the soil, and "snow is the poor man's manure." Have you never noticed that where the snow happened to lay longest, because of a drift or less exposure to the sun, that there, in that very spot, the grass sprang up the most luxuriantly and turned out better than in other parts of the same field? Such is believed to be the fact: and there is a sound reason for it. Ammonia is one of the most powerful fertilizers yet discovered in the whole range of agricultural chemistry, and that is contained as well in the snow as in the rain, and for this reason snow is perhaps quite as powerful in enriching the soil as rain itself. Even the severities of Winter are not without their blessings to the farmer; and when the pleasures of Winter, the intellectual and social pleasures of the long evenings, are taken into the account, who will not cry "blessings on his frosty pow?" We will take it for granted that you have a Winter's evening before you—that the good woman has completed the daily round of household duties, and is well planted in the big rocking-chair, knitting-work in hand,—the boys and girls, too, have all come home from school and finished up the chores: now, dear sir, do you preside over the cheerful circle and introduce a topic for conversation or discussion. Let it be book-farming, if you please; and with your leave we will suggest a few questions which may furnish food for reflection and conversation. Is there not a vast deal of prejudice among farmers against book-farming? Has not this grown out of unsuccessful experiments in book-farming? Have not these been unsuccessful, usually, because the particular qualities of soil, or manures, or seed, have not been duly regarded by the experimenter? If these questions are decided affirmatively, we expect you to reject all prejudices, and to perceive a strong argument in favor of scientific book-farming; for it is that which treats of soils, and manures, and seeds, and philosophically deduces the principles of agriculture from the known laws of nature and from actual experiments. And why should there not be a Science of Agriculture, as capable of being taught and understood, as is the science of chemistry, or botany, or geology? Indeed, do not these three sciences comprise a part of the science of Agriculture, and thus render it worthy of a very exalted rank in the range of human sciences?

Happiness and virtue usually re-act upon each other. The best are not only the happiest—but the happiest are usually the best.

Modesty.—Beauty is never so lovely and attractive as when it is accompanied by retiring modesty. The most beautiful flower of the garden, that most attracts and charms the senses, never appears so lovely as when it is beheld sweetly peeping from the midst of its curtain of green leaves, which serves partially to protect it from the sun and the elements, and which renders its charms doubly interesting and beautiful.

Educate a community in the idea that to work with their hands is degrading and dishonorable, and you educate them for vice and misery.

Cough in Horses.—The boughs of cedar have been used with complete success. They should be cut fine and mixed with the grain.

Consider your calling the most elevated and the most important, but never be above it, nor be afraid of the frock and the apron.

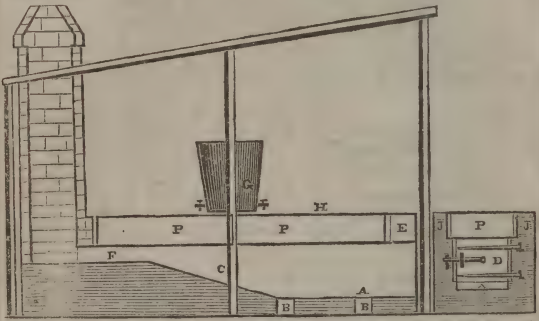
Put off no business for to-morrow that can be done to day.

Never carry your notes in your pocket-book, for the desk or trunk is a more appropriate place. Keep them on file and in order, ready to be found when wanted.

On wings as swift as love's he flew,
Blushing like morning's prime;
And flowers across his path he threw,
And that child's name was Time.

Farmers' Calendar.

Hurrah for the Sugar-Orchard! Let the sunny South boast her sugar-cane, and the West her beet or corn-stalk sugar; but we Green Mountain Boys will stand by the rock-maple—no unfit emblem for our hardy mountaineers and the sweetest mountain nymphs to be found the whole world over. Stick to the maple; and so long as the maple forests stand, suffer not your cup to be sweetened by the blood of slaves. A practical farmer has furnished us a plan of sugar works, which is so easy of construction and so well adapted for the business, that we give a sketch of it.



A—Fire-place or arch. B—Air flues clear through under the wood to admit air and char the fire. C—Space to burn out extra coals and for long wood. D—Door to defend the pans from a cold current of air. E—Mantle. F—Flue. G—Cistern to feed the pans as fast as they boil down. H—Sheet iron covers, or board may be used to advantage. J—Walls to support the pans and protect the sides from cold air. A similar form of arch will answer as well for kettles as for pans, and probably save nearly one half of the wood, besides the convenience, neatness, comfort and despatch of making sugar. It may be done with stone principally, if suitable stone can be had, otherwise brick. The whole to be enclosed in a shed. Scale about one-sixth of an inch to a foot. In a very large establishment add another pan and air flue, or increase the width of the pans.

Some men live to eat; others live to drink: some live to dance; others to make fools of themselves: but, varied as are these phases, there is one particular in which they all agree—they live to die.

Threshing.—Experience shows that the farmer who gets out and sells his grain in autumn, admitting the prices are the same, realizes from a crop at least 10 per cent. more than he who does not dispose of his crop till the next spring.

Perfection.—Aim at perfection in every thing, though in most things it is unattainable; however, they who aim at it, and persevere, will come much nearer to it than those whose laziness and despondency make them give it up as unattainable.

When interest or a debt becomes due, pay it at the time, whether your creditor wants it or not. Never ask him to 'wait till next week,' but pay it. Never insult him by saying, 'you do not want it.'—Punctuality is a key to every man's chest.

As soon as the spring opens and the frost is out of the ground, put your fences in order.

I saw a man, whose ample brow
Was furrowed deep with care;
And now despair, and rapture now,
By turns were pictured there:

Farmers' Calendar.

No matter if you sow your spring wheat before the frost is out of the ground: in fact, some farmers do this, leaving the settling of the ground, by thawing and rain, to cover the seed, and thus save the labor of harrowing. This has been done with great success on ground which was plowed in the fall. It is also recommended to look over your fields of winter wheat in the spring, and where the crop does not promise well, to sow spring wheat.

This month is too often a severe one for cattle, when the winter's stock of hay grows short, and the farmer fears a backward spring.—This necessity would happen less frequent, if the cattle and horses were always well and warmly housed through the winter. A Kentuckian, who is a philosophical as well as a practical farmer, urges this point, from the fact that all animal heat is furnished by the food which is consumed: if, then, your cattle are left exposed to the severities of winter, they must eat plentifully, or die. He says—"when animals are kept warm, clean, and quiet, about one half the nutritious matter (if it be diffused through a bulk sufficient for proper distention of the organs of nutrition,) that is necessary to a wretched shivering existence, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, will keep them in fine condition." The remark in parentheses is an important one: ruminating animals have stomachs so constituted as to require bulk of food as well as nutrition, and when vegetables are used, they should always be mixed with hay or straw or cornstalks.

The Housewife.—A good housewife is one of the first blessings in the economy of life. What we mean by good is, that she possesses those qualifications, and exercises them, which are essential to the good order and economy of a family, the tidy appearance, good manners and respectability of the children, and the comfort and enjoyment of the domestic circle. She should understand, particularly, every branch of household duty, so as to be able to perform it on any emergency—and these emergencies are liable to occur to all—and at all times be able to superintend and direct. Depend upon it, men put a great value upon the housewife qualifications of their partners after marriage, however little they may weigh with them before; and there is nothing which tends more to mar the felicities of married life, than a recklessness or want of knowledge in the new housekeeper, of the duties which belong to her station. We admire beauty, and order, and system, in every thing, and we admire good fare. If these are found in their dwellings, and are seasoned with good nature and good sense, men will seek for their chief enjoyments at home; they will love their home and their partners, and try to reciprocate the kind offices of duty and affection. Mothers that study the welfare of their daughters, will not fail to instruct them in the qualifications of married life. and daughters that appreciate the value of these qualifications, will not fail to acquire them.

A good temper, a good library, good health, and a good wife, are four choice blessings.

To Preserve Eggs.—Reaumur tried varnishing eggs to preserve them, but he found the cheapest and most effectual method was to apply oil or grease, with which they were rubbed, or into which they were dipped. All sorts of fat, grease, or oil, were found well adapted to preserve eggs; they were preserved nine months, as fresh as the day on which they were laid.

Plant no more ground than you can well manure and cultivate to advantage.

Never hire a man to do a piece of work which you can do yourself.

Every day has its appropriate duties, attend to them in succession.

Keep no more stock than you can keep in good order, and that of the best kind.

The song he sang was "Heap and hoard,
And scale ambition's height,"
And his hand grasp'd a keen-edged sword
Of majesty and might.

Farmers' Calendar.

MAY is a busy month: fences and gates to be repaired,—fruit trees to be grafted,—all farming utensils to be fixed in apple-pie order, if not left so in the fall,—the fields to be broken up, and the seed to be put into the ground; but do all your work well. That is the main point, on which, next to Providence, all the hopes of a happy season and fruitful harvests must depend.

Let it be an invariable practice to sow and plant as much ground as you can manure and cultivate well, and no more. Don't be afraid of raising too much produce of any kind, and cultivate such plants and fruits as are best adapted to your soil and the climate, but remember that the greatest quantity of any article is not raised from the greatest amount of land and seed, but from the best land and the best seed, that are the best cultivated. Don't manure your potatoes designed for table use, with fresh manure. It will make them strong as rancid butter. A virgin soil is best for potatoes; but if that is not at hand, take recently broken up pasture, or mowing land. Early potatoes should be planted as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Don't forget to sow your onion seed, your lettuce, early cabbages, peas, &c. early. Don't let your manure heat in the yard, or in heaps in the fields. It spoils it. Cart it into the fields, and scatter it in small heaps, till you are ready to use it.

In the preparation of clover seed, soaking for a day or two in warm water, in which a small quantity of common salt had been dissolved, has usually been productive of the best results. But even this precaution will be of little use unless the seed be fairly covered. On the contrary, seed that has been soaked, if it be not covered immediately, and at a sufficient depth, after sowing, will be much more liable to fail than that sowed in its natural state.

Soap Suds.—There is no better manure than dirty soap suds.

Scours in Calves.—We have never, says the Southern Planter, found any remedy for the scours preferable to boiled skim milk. This should be given warm.

Advantage of Tight Lacing.—A very influential physician in a populous town in Massachusetts, was once appealed to by a gentleman to use his influence in bringing into disuse the practice of tight lacing, which was carried to a great extent by the ladies of the town. The doctor heard the appeal very quietly, and then returned for answer, that he could not conscientiously engage in any undertaking of the nature, for, said he, "I think this practice a great public benefit." "A great public benefit!" exclaimed the astonished philanthropist, "why, how can that be; do you not see that a great many of our young ladies are ruining their health, and losing their lives by it?" "Yes, yes," returned the doctor, "but my dear fellow do you not see that it kills off only the fools, and we shall all be wise ones by and by."

Too many people confound charity with donation; they are satisfied with having given the most ready vent to the generous impulse; they have gratified a high and a low feeling—the kindness, and we fear also, the ostentation. That is not charity which goes about with a white pocket-handkerchief in the hand, and is followed by a flourish of trumpets! No; charity is a calm, severe duty; it must be intellectual to be advantageous. It is a strange mistake that it should ever be considered a merit; its fulfilment is only what we owe to each other, and is a debt never paid to its full extent.

Never "run into debt" without a reasonable probability of solving it at the time agreed.

Keep a memorandum book—enter all notes, whether received or given—all moneys received or paid out—all expenses—and all circumstances of importance.

Around him throng'd a numerous train,
Wealth, Fame, and Power sublime;
While his breast swell'd with fancies vain,
And his name too was Time.

Farmers' Calendar.

Of course every Vermont dairy-maid must have learned by this time how to make good butter—yet they do not always do it, even though every body knows that it is just as cheap to make good butter as poor, and far more pleasant and profitable. We gather up a few hints. Cows should have frequent change of pasture, be constantly supplied with salt, gently driven and always kindly treated, and milked at regular periods, and if possible this should be done by the same person, for cows are creatures of habit and don't like strangers. All utensils for butter making must be perfectly sweet and clean: wash them first, then thoroughly scald them, and see finally that they are perfectly dried. If you build a dairy-house, let it be of brick or stone for coolness and sweetness, and so built that it may be thoroughly ventilated. Never suffer meat to be kept in it, nor mouldy or decaying wood of any kind. In hot weather don't delay skimming a moment after the milk is curdled, unless you wish a thin watery fluid to form and spoil your cream. Skim twice a day, and at regular periods. Cream should be kept in stone ware, immersed to the brim in cold water. Don't delay churning beyond the third day in summer. Work out every drop of buttermilk, and don't delay it too long. Salt at the commencement of the first working, and use the finest ground article. New York salt won't do.

Liquid Manure.—At an agricultural meeting in England, Mr. Kimmonts made the following remarks: "It is nearly twenty years since I first commenced using liquid manure on grass lands. I have a large tank, 30 feet by 10, and 3 feet in depth, which the urine from the cattle sheds &c. runs into. I have a large barrel with which I carry it out to the fields. Attached to the cart is a small trough, full of holes, such as is used for watering the streets. It may also be used to advantage by being mixed with compost. I have found it useful in top-dressing, and good for the turnip crop. The urine of six cows, fed on turnips in winter, will enrich a quantity of earth sufficient to top-dress an English acre of grass land. It would require about £5 worth of manure to perform the same operation. The advantage of irrigating grass land with urine, I have proved on a small piece of ground, sown with Italian grass, convenient to the cistern, which I cut four times in one season, each cutting averaging four feet. I would recommend farmers to make a trial of it. The expense of making the cisterns convenient to the cow-sheds is but trifling; it should be situated, also, where the slops from the house would run into it. They will be more benefited by pursuing this plan, than by allowing such a quantity of valuable manure to be lost."

It is a melancholy spectacle to see a man eating, drinking, and gambling away his property; and yet when poverty, and its constant companion, misery, overtake this man, and make him wince beneath their clutch, he will upbraid Providence for allowing him to suffer the mere consequences of his own imprudence. Such conduct is just as reasonable, as for a man to sleep in a ditch, and then complain of the access of fever thereby occasioned.

To fix Ammonia in your Manure Heaps.—Sprinkle them liberally with gypsum—or common salt dissolved in water—or with old bones crushed or pounded. Ashes may also be of advantage, or even loam, if enough is used to cover the heap.

Whitewash.—Do n't fail to apply this liberally about your premises.

Instead of spending a rainy day at the dram shop, as some do to their ruin, repair whatever wants mending, or post your accounts.

By driving your business before you, and not permitting your business to drive you, you will have opportunities to indulge in innocent diversions.

Take some good family newspaper, and pay for it in advance.

I saw an aged, shrivell'd form,
With hollow eyes and blind;
He crouch'd beneath the pelting storm,
And shook with every wind.

Farmers' Calendar.

INDEPENDENCE! Talismanic word! How stirreth it the Yankee to patriotic reflections, especially when uttered on or about the 4th day of July. How does it electrify the memory, and bring up before the eye all the scenes from Lexington's bloody day to the crowning victory of the Revolution, and marshal in long array the patriot heroes and statesmen who sustained the fearful contest and founded a mighty nation. Well, national independence is a blessed thing; it has blessed us, and the world, indeed; and right it is for us to cherish the remembrance of its cost, and consider the vast consequences which have flowed from it. Thus shall we perceive the inestimable value of the legacy which our fathers left us, and be inspired to keep it unimpaired for our children. But this word independence: verily it hath different applications, and some of them are doubtless interesting to you. As a farmer, you are placed in a condition to be more independent than is any other class of society; all the means of a comfortable, yea, enviable existence, are within your immediate reach. Your dependence is not merely upon the breath of princes—not upon the accidents, the crimes, or even the necessities of society, which give employment to professional men and mechanics: it is upon God, whose promises fail not and whose goodness is over all. To be sure you may render yourself quite as dependent upon your neighbors as are other men. If you practice no self-denial and shut out providence from your counsels, you may find yourself a slave—to debt. Cruel bondage that. The debtor is strictly not his own; nay, all that he hath is another's. Up and escape from the bonds of debt; not to Canada, not to the West, not to Texas—leg-bail is no discharge in the court of conscience. Escape by the straight and narrow path—full and honest payment—payment to the last farthing; and take a receipt in full. Put all your energies to the work, backed up by self-denial and prudence, and the thing will be done. And then take this lesson for your reward: to be free and independent, pay down—always pay down.

Salt for Grub Worms.—A correspondent of the New Genesee Farmer says, that after finding the grub worm was cutting off his corn and cabbages at a sad rate, he first applied ashes, then soot, and Scotch snuff to the hill, hoping to destroy or drive away the worm, but it was all to no purpose. Afterwards, seeing it stated that salt was very disagreeable to the grub, he applied about two table spoonfuls to each hill of corn or cabbage, placing it so as not to touch the plant. The worms left them immediately. Another says, that by putting about 'a pinch' of salt to each plant, two or three times, the worm ceased his depredations. He also mentions a neighbor who watered his cabbages daily with water from a salt pork barrel, and was not troubled; but as soon as he discontinued the practice, his plants were attacked equally with his neighbors.

Vermin on Vines.—Charcoal dust is always offensive to insects and grubs, and though it may not kill them, it will drive them away. A little may be sifted over the plants every day or two, and we incline to think that charcoal will prove to be as good an article as any that has been recommended for garden plants.

Working Cattle.—These faithful creatures must receive increased attention and care, be well fed, regularly cleansed, and bedded at night.

By constant temperance, habitual moderate exercise, and unaffected honestry, you will avoid the fees of the lawyer and the sheriff, gain a good report, and probably add to your present existence, at least ten years of active life.

Remember that economy and industry are the two great pillars of the farmer's prosperity.

His song was "Life's fair tree is fell'd,
It yields before the blast;"
And his lean hand an hour-glass held,
Whose sands were ebbing fast.

Farmers' Calendar.

THE labors of the harvest are at hand: hire Temperance and Gratitude for your assistants; they are cheerful fellows, lighten every man's burden, and cost nothing. The economy of temperance is worth the attention of every body in these times, to say nothing of the loss of character, of happiness and of health, which rigid temperance will prevent,—and if you have never tried the experiment of a temperance harvest, try it now. Our word for it, those big-bellied jugs are awkward and unprofitable fellows any where.

How to keep Eggs.—Take a keg, with the bottom larger than the top, put a layer of coarse salt, if you can get it—i is the purest, generally—half an inch thick upon the bottom; set up your eggs on the small end, close together, and cover them half an inch thick; thus filling your cask alternately with salt and eggs, till near the top. Put over the top a thick, close-made cloth, and pour melted lard over it; then set your eggs away, where they will not freeze, and they will keep for any length of time you desire.

To increase the Quantity of Cream.—While the milking of your cows is going on, let your pans be placed in a kettle of boiling water. Strain the milk into the pans taken hot from the kettle, and cover the same with another of the hot pans. Proceed, in like manner, with the whole mess of milk, and you will find that you will have double the quantity of good, rich cream, and get double the quantity of good sweet butter.

Lime.—If any one doubts the paramount benefits of this article in any soil or situation, let him try half an acre, lime it well, and we think that in four or five years he will extend the application. One well-done is forever done with this great fertilizer. Who ever saw the ruins of a house where the plastering and mortar is found, but has seen the rich strong grass, at all seasons, wet and dry? What produces this? The fertility that gathers to the residence of man cannot thus last. Can it be any other than the lime in the mortar? Lime acts more decisively upon some soils than upon others, but limestone land is ever fertile, wherever found, and where it is deficient, if we add it, it will remain. It seems to act in the manures as a kind of condiment, preparing them for the appetites of the plants. A small portion of lime or alkaline matter is found in all vegetables, grasses and trees; lime supplies this, and hence the vigorous growth wherever it is found. It is much more advantageous to double the produce of one acre, than to work two acres for the same return. Let us try this article. If we see no marked advantage the first year, and but little the second, doubt not: for it requires time to get this material fairly under way. But when it does act, its operation is steady and durable, and annually returns the cost of the application.

A writer in the Farmer's Cabinet says, "there is every reason to conclude, that by manuring corn with cornstalks and constantly tilling by the plow, corn may be grown with success for any number of years on the same soil. Will not some one of your readers devote an acre of land to the purpose, and deserve the thanks of the agricultural community?"

If apple trees have been girdled near the ground, the drawing up of earth around them so as to cover the wounds, may save them. Bark may be taken from other trees, and if well fitted in, may be made to heal the wounds.

Remember that Time is precious—a commodity so precious, that God, who gives every thing else liberally, imparts this with a sparing hand.

There is only one moment in the world at once, and that is taken away before the next is bestowed. Defer not the business of this moment to the next,—this is yours—the next may not be yours.

Across his path dark phantoms roved,
Of Age, and Want, and Crime,
His wings seemed clipt, yet swift he moved,
And still his name was TIME.

Farmers' Calendar.

REMEMBER your ways. The law for the repairs of highways and bridges is to be attended to about these days. The regular wear and tear of time makes these periodical labors necessary in order to render the ways of the world passable—and is it not just exactly so, morally speaking, with the character and habits of us all, not excluding even the best of us? Let us keep a close eye to that, too. By the way, speaking of roads renders the following morceau of Michigan poetry quite apt. We hang it up as a sort of scare-crow to highway surveyors. It was appended to a notice for a meeting to take into consideration the propriety of repairing a certain piece of corduroy road:

"For now it is not passable,
Not even jackassable;
And those who would travel it
Should turn out and gravel it."

Many an unwise parent labors hard and lives sparingly all his life for the purpose of leaving enough to give his children a start in the world, as it is called. Setting a young man afloat with money left him by his relatives, is like tying bladders under the arms of one who cannot swim; ten chances to one he will lose his bladders and go to the bottom. Teach him to swim and he will never need the bladders. Give your child a sound education, and you have done enough for him. See to it that his morals are pure, his mind cultivated, and his whole nature made subservient to the laws which govern man, and you have given what will be of more value than the wealth of the Indies. You have given him a start which no misfortune can deprive him of. The earlier you teach him to depend upon his own resources the better.

Worms in Trees.—The following receipe, as an antidote to worms in fruit or shade trees, is from the Philadelphia U S. Gazette. It has been frequently published and tested, and found effectual. "In reply to your communication on shade trees, I have tried an experiment on a plum tree fifteen years ago, since which I have never seen any kind of insects upon the tree, to affect it or the fruit, which tree was every year affected, together with the fruit, previous to my experiment, which is to bore a hole into the heart of the tree and insert a roll of brimstone about three inches in length, and carefully plug the same up. The above will be a certain preventative of all kinds of insects, and the expense trifling."

Strawberries.—Many cultivators suffer their beds to run wild, and still obtain tolerable crops; but a still better way is to plant in drills or hills, and keep them so. Hoeing or cultivation benefits them as much as it does corn. By pursuing this course, the writer obtained nearly a pint of large, fat, plump strawberries from some single plants the last season. Lime had been applied two years before to the strawberry bed, at the rate of about half a bushel to the square rod.

Agar said, "Give me neither poverty nor riches"—and this will ever be the prayer of the wise. Our incomes should be like our shoes: if too small, they will gall and pinch us, but if too large, they will cause us to stumble and to trip. Wealth, after all, is a relative thing, since he that has little, and wants less, is richer than he that has much, but wants more.

Onions.—If onions be planted in the same hill with vines, it is said they will protect the latter from the depredations of the striped bug.

Always have a plan of your business suited to the season; if every hour has its appropriate duty, the hour will remind you of that duty.
Undertake no more than you can perform.
Do one thing at a time.
If hindrances occur, waste no time in fruitless regrets, but improve the passing circumstances.

Oh! how Time changes! and man, too,
Doth with the Wizzard change;
Borrow his every form and hue,
And in his footsteps range;

Why is not more attention paid in Vermont to the raising of good fruit? In Grand Isle County, in other vicinities of Lake Champlain, and along the Connecticut River, we are aware that good fruit is now produced; and indeed, in some instances within our knowledge, the orchard is the most profitable part of the farm. In these cases, the fruit is principally sold in our villages, instead of being used for cider or sauce. But more good fruit can be raised, and ought to be—yea, and will be raised, when the owners of orchards learn the truth, that good fruit can be produced as well as bad. The horticultural societies of Massachusetts have effected wonders by way of introducing new and excellent fruit, and of improving the mode of fruit culture. We trust this spirit of improvement will soon be felt in Vermont.

Fruit moth may be got rid of with a little care. They alight upon the young fruit in the months of June and July, and lay their eggs on the outside, at the blossom end of the fruit. In a few days the eggs are hatched, and the young worm at once burrows into the apples and feeds upon them. These apples mainly fall to the ground before the sound ones, and are what are usually called wind-fallen apples. Now for the remedy: it is simply to gather up all the wind fallen apples and make such use of them as to be sure and kill the worms; perhaps boil them and feed to the hogs. In addition to this, hang an old cloth in the crotches of the trees. It is said that when the worms begin to leave the apples, they will conceal themselves in the cloth, and may be easily destroyed.

Industry.—Every young man should remember that the world always has and always will honor industry—at least that part of the world whose respect is worth gaining. The useless idler, or he who seeks exercise in amusements that produce no useful end, may look with scorn upon the smutty laborer engaged in his toil: but his scorn is praise; his contempt is an honor. Honest industry will secure the respect of the wise and good among men, and give the priceless bliss of an easy conscience, peace of mind and health of body. Toil on, then, young men. Make your business an amusement: look upon labor as a blessing, not as a curse, and you will have no cause to envy the pampered sons of wealth.

To Make Yeast.—Take two middling sized boiled potatoes, mash, and add a pint of boiling water and two table spoonfuls of brown sugar. One pint of hot water should be applied to every half pint of the compound. Cold water is better in warm weather. This yeast being made without flour, will keep longer, and is said to be much better than any other.

Watery Potatoes.—Watery potatoes, or those in which carbon does not abound, are always deficient in nutritive qualities, which depend on the presence of carbon. The latter cannot exist in its just proportion independently of proper light and heat. Hence potatoes grown in an orchard are never good; the light and oxygen which should act upon them, is intercepted by the leaves of the various fruit trees, the deleterious portion of the carbon which the light and oxygen would have carried off, mixes with the watery particles of the vegetable, and it becomes not only deficient in nutriment, but absolutely unwholesome.

Never promise what you have not the means and the intention to perform.

Carefully gather up the fragments of time, and improve them for useful purposes. "As goldsmiths and refiners preserve the very sweepings of their shop, to save the filings of gold and silver, so a christian ought to be very careful of those small portions of time which are more precious than metals." This is an excellent rule for all, though all are not, what they should be—true Christians.

And now his mirror, now his sword,
And now his hour-glass seize;
Thou fool! why is thy mind still stored
With trifles such as these?

Farmers' Calendar.

"Silk Dress.—Silk being a non-conductor of electricity, is an excellent material for dress. One of the primary causes for the languor which is felt in damp weather is said to be the damp atmosphere, robbing us of our electricity—which a medical writer calls the buoyant cordial of the body. Those, therefore, who are apt to be spiritless in damp weather are recommended to wear silk waistcoats, drawers and stockings. Silk should be used in every possible manner by the weak—in the lining of sleeves, cloaks, coats, coverlits, &c."

"There, that's all very fine; but mercy on us! how are we ever to get silk so plenty as all this implies?" This is what we presume will be the reflection of a majority of the readers of the above extract. Yet it is as easy to supply so much silk as it would be to produce so much linen; indeed, we think, after the business is once understood, that it will be easier. Incredible as it may seem, it is nevertheless true, that silk can be raised in Vermont without difficulty. Sufficiently has the experience of a few proved this fact.—American silk is now manufactured to a considerable extent, and it is every way a superior article. Why not raise it in Vermont for our own use? France once thought she could not raise silk. Henry IV. and his great minister, Sully, believed this was an error, and offered a bounty so as to ensure those against loss who attempted the silk culture. They succeeded—the exports of silk now bring France $25,000,000 a year! And France is said not to be so good for silk culture as Massachusetts, and certainly no better than Vermont. Our wives (don't laugh—there are three of us, each with a wife,) use Vermont silk and twist, manufactured by one of them, and pronounce it better, in all its qualities, than any foreign silk usually to be found; we, therefore, don't preach for domestic silk without excellent authority—in our opinion. Go into the silk business, then, we pray you: not as a speculation; do not hazardously expend much money with the expectation of immediate and enormous profits; do not make that so much your business as to neglect any profitable part of your present operations on the farm. But we advise every farmer to try the experiment for himself in a small way, to begin with—even if he do nothing but satisfy himself that the mulberry will adapt itself to his soil. That effected, he may go on as he pleases. If he has children, especially daughters, and will furnish them with the means and the necessary instruction about feeding, we will warrant him success in raising his own sewing-silk. When this is generally done, the fact is established beyond controversy that silk may be raised, and capitalists will not be wanting to purchase the annual fleeces of the silk worm, to be manufactured.

Implements and Tools.—When not in use, see that these, of every kind, are kept under cover: once a week examine every thing of the kind you have, and have whatever may need it, repaired.

Education is a better safeguard for liberty than a standing army.—If we retrench the pay of the schoolmaster, we must raise the wages of the recruiting sergeant.

A man who gives his children a habit of industry, provides for them better than by giving them a stock of money.

Consider well the end of every thing you do—the end—not the immediate results—the momentary gratification—but the end of a course of conduct.

Aim at strict punctuality in engagements. A man who wants punctuality, not only wastes his own time, but often intrudes upon that of others, which may be still more valuable.

We must guard against a spirit of procrastination; also be watchful over ourselves, lest a habit of unprofitable anxiety, as to the future, rob us of our time.

Spurn this world for a better home,
Where his wings cannot soar;
Where chance and change shall never come,
And time shall be no more.

Reading.—If I were to pray, says Sir J. Herschel, for a taste which should stand me in stead under every variety of circumstances, and be a source of happiness and cheerfulness to me through life, and a shield against all its ill, however things might go amiss, and the world frown upon me, it would be a taste for reading. I speak of it, of course, only as a worldly advantage, and not in the slightest degree superceding or derogating from the higher office, and surer and stronger panoply of religious principles—but as a taste, an instrument and a mode of pleasurable gratification. Give a man this taste and the means of gratifying it, and you can hardly fail of making a happy man—unless, indeed, you put into his hands a most perverse selection of books. You place him in contact with the best society in every period of history—with the wisest, wittiest—the bravest and the purest characters who have adorned humanity. You make him a denizen of all nations—a contemporary of all ages. The world has been created for him. It is hardly possible but the world should take a higher and better tone from the constant habit of associating in thought with a class of thinkers, to say the least of it, above the average of humanity. It is morally impossible but that the manners should imbibe a tinge of good breeding and civilization, from having constantly before their eyes the way in which the best informed men have talked and conducted themselves in their intercourse with each other.

He is a rich man, who lives within his income, be it ever so small; he is a poor man, who exceeds it, be it ever so large.

Trees.—It is a custom in Turkey, says Dr. Walsh, to plant a platurnus orientalis (buttonwood tree) on the birth of a son, and a cypress on the death of one. Were this custom adopted in the United States, it would give us, at the end of forty years, about twenty millions of trees more than we now have—a consideration of no mean importance to posterity. And were the trees planted by the roadside, most of our public highways would, at that period, be converted into delightful avenues. The road from Strasburg to Munich, a distance of 250 miles, is an avenue of fruit trees.

Cultivators.—Every farmer should have a Cultivator. It is a real labor saving machine, whereby an old horse and a boy can do more hoeing in a day than can be done in any other way by the same amount of power.

Warm Bread.—Dr. Bell, in his excellent work on regimen and longevity, states that bread yet warm, or even recently from the oven, is unwholesome, especially to those whose exercise in the open air is limited. It is prejudicial to the dyspeptic, and to those who, without suffering themselves to be on this list, suffer frequently from pain and spasm in the stomach. Of the same injurious nature is hot buttered toast.

To destroy your authority over your children—When you are in good humor, give them sugar-plums, when in ill humor, blows and reproach.

To embitter domestic life—Maintain your opinion on small matters at the point of the bayonet.

Our life begins like the church service, with music, and afterwards come teaching and repentance.

Prudence and love are not made for each other; in proportion as love increases, prudence diminishes.

Taking a hint sometimes saves taking a kick.

Recall the transactions of the year, and endeavor to make a practical comment on the past.

Make these inquiries,—

Has it brought an increase of knowledge and virtue?

Has it been devoted to the service of God and man?

Or, has it been spent in sloth, sensuality, and selfishness?
